

District, and I share my colleagues' concern about this current financial crisis.

Having spent time in this city as a child, and now as a U.S. Representative, residents of the District and visitors to our Nation's Capital deserve better. They deserve to know how their money is being spent and they deserve more accountability. And, frankly, so do all the American people. It is our Nation's Capital, and it should reflect America at its best.

That is why I joined as a cosponsor of H.R. 1345, the D.C. Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995. I believe that the proposed Financial Control Board will help put the District of Columbia back on the right track.

I have spent the first 3 months of my term in committee hearings on this matter, and from what I have learned, the Financial Board is the only true option we have to making the city solvent again. This Control Board will have the authority to review city budgets, all District master plans, labor contracts before they are approved, all city borrowing, including loans from the U.S. Treasury and borrowing for the D.C. government. The Board will continue to operate at full authority until the District balances its budget for at least 4 straight years and it remain in a reduced oversight capacity until the city pays off all loans taken out under its authority. A five-member board will be individuals with proven financial or management expertise.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the Board to be formed as soon as possible so that the city will be returned to a fiscally sound status, such that all citizens, especially its children, are given a better quality of life by the District's government.

Miss COLLINS of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I want to add my voice today to those who have offered their support for H.R. 1345, the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act.

In a Congress where recent debates have given new meaning to the word "partisan," this bill is indeed a rarity. It is a rapid bipartisan response to a crisis which, by its very nature, has invited partisanship at every turn.

Also, unlike many other critical bills in this Congress, H.R. 1345 has had appropriate deliberations. In addition to meeting with D.C. government officials, the Subcommittee on the District of Columbia heard testimony from State and municipal officials who have worked extensively with municipal financial control boards. Because control boards are rarely used, the knowledge derived from the testimony of these experts was priceless.

Finally, subcommittee members and staff worked around the clock to incorporate what they had learned into the legislation before us today. This is a model bill, and I hope that other committees will take heed of our example.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time has expired.

The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. CLINGER], that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1345, as amended.

The question was taken, and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.
